E. Company Going to Chesapeake Beach.

The members of the Washington Railway and Electric Relief Association began preliminary arrangements for its annual excursion to Chesapeake Beach, Thursday, June 27, at a meeting of the general committee of arrangements last night in the clubrooms at 914 E street northwest. President Clarence P. King was in the chair. This association is made up exclusively o fthe employes of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, chiefly conductors and motormen, the object being to provide ready the families of members. The dues are necessarily nominal in amount, but to offset deficits the association gives an excursion each year, which is patronized early Monday morning, May 20. by a large part of the local population.

ARMY TUG CASTLE BACK.

Adams Edward S. Bailey, Grant S. Returns Here After Undergoing

Overhauling at Baltimore. The United States Army engineers' tug Castle, Capt. Bell, which has been at a Baltimore shipyard for about a month receiving a general overhauling and having a new electric lighting plant installed, returned to this city yesterday afternoon, and is lying at her berth at the engineers' wharf on Potomac Park, bbout abreast the foot of 14th street

While at Baltimore the machinery and overhauling, and her house and hull also were overhauled. The tug, it is stated, will leave here in a few days on an inspection trip over the district, which includes the tributaries of Chesapeake bay in Virginia, between the York and Potomas rivers, within its limits. It is also stated that the new dredge Delcarlia, built at the engineers' wharf in the past winter, and the snag-pulling boat will be taken shortly to the York river for work on that waterway and on the Sole Legatee. On a letterhead of the Washington bureau of the Philadelphia Press, James He names his son, Lucien Rinehart Henry, as sole legatee and appoints Dr. Gabriel F. Johnston and Mrs. Johnston as the boy's guardians. In the event the Johnston do not wish to act in this co-pacity, the testator requests Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Church of Pittsburgh to undertake the care of the boy. The guardians are authorized to com vert the estate into cash and invest the proceeds for the boy. The income is to be expended in his maintenance and edu-cation. Should this be insufficient, drafts may be made on the principal of the estate and the balance paid to the boy
